"INTOLERABLE INSULTS" DRAW BRITISH PROTESTS

Lord Halifax Calls London Ambassador Of Japan To Foreign Office To Receive Direct
Report On Empire's Attitude In Far East

LONDON, (UP)—Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary, tonight protested to Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu against "intolerable insults" by the Japanese army to Britons at Tientsin.

The Japanese emissary to London came to the British foreign office at the specific request of Lord Halifax, and was informed of the British government's attitude toward what Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain characterized as "these intolerable insults."

FEELING RISES

TIENTSIN, China, (UP)—British authorities strengthened their guards at entrances to the blockaded British concession today as Japanese held anti-British mass meetings here and in other key Chinese cities.

A gigantic demonstration was planned here, and Japanese reports said that demonstrations were held at Peiping, Tsingtao, Kaifeng, Nanjing, Hankow, Canton, Taiyuan and other cities extending throughout the vast Chinese territory occupied by the Japanese army.

British naval authorities officially advised all British merchantmen in Chinese waters to resume trade with Swatow. The 48 Americans at Swatow had refused to leave, as had British residents.

The United States destroyers Pillsbury and Pope and the British destroyers Thanet and Scout remained in Swatow harbor.

"Reopening" For Treasure Island

San Francisco Fair
Prepares For Special
Program Over Weekend

TREASURE ISLAND—Revitalized, redecorated and all dressed up in new finery, the Golden Gate International Exposition will have a gorgeous "Supper Opening," signalized by a two-day program and fun session and activities on Saturday and Sunday, June 24 and 25.

Managing Director Charles H. Strub said that the top shows of the entertainment world will be secured for Treasure Island patrons, and that plans along these lines are rapidly taking definite shape.

For the two-day celebration on a series of special entertainment features will be provided which will include elaborate fireworks, outdoor attractions of a startling nature and a general scheme of fun and hilarity.

In addition to announcing plans for the "Summer Opening," Strub also made public some of the details of the general "pepping up" program that has been undertaken. Outside cities, states and counties will be urged to arrange new special days at Treasure Island. At present this work is going forward in Phoenix, Arizona; Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington, and other cities.

Radio programs will be stepped up and negotiations are under way to have programs now originating in the southern part of the state produced on Treasure Island.

Elaborate plans are also being made for a monster celebration on Treasure Island on July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Crowe, of Omo Ranch, are the parents of a daughter, Margaret Lorraine Crowe, born on June 18 at Placerville, according to a certificate on file Friday with the county recorder.

MRS. SWEENEY SUMMONED

Pioneer Of 1854 To Be Laid At Rest Sunday
From O'Keefe Chapel

The funeral services for Mrs. Ida Sweeney, 87, mother of James Herbert Sweeney, of Placerville, who died Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Delphena Fink, in Pleasant Valley, will be held at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon from the O'Keefe Mortuary chapel.

The Rev. Rex Barron will officiate at the services and interment will be at the family plot in Upper-town cemetery.

Mrs. Sweeney was a native of Quincy, Illinois, who came to California eighty-five years ago and settled in El Dorado County. She had resided here continuously since that time.

In addition to the daughter and the son, she is survived by four grandchildren, who are, Roy Brewer, of Crescent City; George Brewer, of San Francisco; Mary Brewer, of Medford, Oregon; and Winnie Heikila, of Pleasant Valley.

Around Our Town

John Thomsen, our express agent, is winding up his annual vacation, which included several days spent at Treasure Island.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith and C. C. Herbert, road superintendent, were at Stockton Friday on official business.

Miss Etta Blackiston arrived on Thursday evening from Los Angeles for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward and other old-time friends. She leaves Saturday morning for Los Angeles, with plans to stop at Modesto for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Grace Bars, also formerly of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dodson and son, Robert, were callers in the county seat Friday from Latrobe, attending to business matters at the school superintendent's office.

We learn that the old home of Mrs. Elizabeth Chaix, near Latrobe, was destroyed by fire within the past two weeks. Mrs. Chaix was occupying the residence with her son-in-law, Miller Jones. Much of the household furnishings is said to have been lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bacchi, of near Lotus, were county seat visitors Thursday.

A suit for divorce in behalf of Marie Vivier against Ralph Vivier, charging extreme cruelty, was on file Friday in Superior Court. The complaint, prepared by Attorney C. W. Pearson, states the couple wed in Solano County, January 6, 1923, and separated June 20, last. They have certain community property, of which the plaintiff asks the household furniture, and have three minor children, whose custody the plaintiff asks, together with an award of $60 per month for their support.

LEGION COMMANDER NAMES T. S. MARLOR AS ADJUTANT

M. E. Wright, who on Wednesday night was elected to become commander of El Dorado Post No. 119, American Legion, on Friday announced the appointment of T. S. Marlors to be adjutant of the post.

Recent changes in the by-laws of the organization provide for the appointment of the adjutant by the commander, rather than for his election by the post membership.

Early Friday afternoon Marlors consented to accept the assignment and Professor Wright reported the appointment to us with the assurance that the word was "hot off the bat."

Dizzy Dean Was Really In Earnest

NEW YORK, (UP)—Dizzy Dean wasn't talking through his hat when he popped off: "Let me pitch more often. I'm tired of being a Sunday pitcher."

The Cubs' front office took him at his word and gave Gabby Hartnett permission to start him any time he deemed Dean was ready. Hartnett sent Dean out yesterday with only three days of rest, and Dizzy was superb. He pitched the Cubs to a 7 to 1 triumph over the Boston Bees.

Dean has four straight triumphs, two over the Bees and one each over Brooklyn and Pittsburgh. He now has qualified to pitch against a first division club but he can't until Hartnett gets permission from the front office.

If there are any better pitchers in the National league than Dean, they will have to prove it in competition. He's pitched four games and allowed three runs. In his latest triumph he let the Bees down with six hits and had them on his hip all the way. They say he has only a glove and a prayer, but that seems to be enough.

NIMRODS OPEN WEEKEND CAMP

Advance Guard Leaves
Early Friday For Wentworth Springs

The probability that a total attendance of about forty sportsmen would be recorded at the mid-summer dinner meeting of the El Dorado County Rod and Gun Club was seen Friday morning as the advance guard left for Wentworth Springs.

The meeting will be held "at dark" at the Wentworth Springs resort following a steak dinner.

A. H. Murray, Rod and Gun Club president, left early Friday for Wentworth Springs to conclude to the final details of arrangements for the meeting there.

The plan is that all who attend will gather in the Wentworth Springs area either today or tomorrow and will establish their own camp and entertain themselves on their own program until Saturday evening when they will gather at the resort for a steak dinner for which reservations have been made at $1 per plate.

Following the dinner and entertainment, and the handling of such business as may come before the club, the formal part of the weekend program will have been concluded and the sportsmen will again be "on their own" until Sunday noon, at which time a five dollar cash prize will be presented to the fisherman who has caught the largest trout during the weekend outing.

COVERED WAGON BABY, FORMER RESIDENT, BURIED A TIONE

TIONE.—The death in Oakland and interment here of Mrs. Purmelia J. Norris, 85, known as Amador County's "covered wagon baby," marked the passing of a widely known resident of the county.

She was born in Echo Canyon, Utah, in 1852, while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys, were crossing the plains in a covered wagon.

Her childhood was spent in Hangtown, now Placerville, and Plymouth. She leaves one daughter, Miss Ruby Norris, in Oakland. For many years, Mrs. Norris and her husband lived in Buena Vista where they operated a ranch, store, hotel and dance pavilion. In 1913 Norris died, and his widow carried on the business until 1929, when she moved to Oakland.

Mrs. Norris was the first noble grand of the Tione Rebekah Lodge.

SOIL CONSERVATION TO BE EXPLAINED AT DISTRICT MEETINGS

The greater number of those who met at the courthouse Thursday evening to hear a discussion of recent changes in the state Soil Conservation Act by R. V. Cozens, state co-ordinator, were farmers resident within the El Dorado Irrigation District.

Following the meeting it was announced that further explanation of the subject will be made on Wednesday evening, June 28, at a meeting at Cool, and at the South Side Farm Center meeting on June 30th. The meeting at Cool will also discuss control burning with agents of the State Division of Forestry.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS

Olson Defeated On Relief
Bill As Expenditure Of $35,000,000 Is Approved

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Weary lawmakers were leaving Sacramento today after a record session of 133 days but still must return in January or February to settle an acute unemployment relief problem.

The 53rd legislature adjourned sine die last night.

Governor Olson was forced to accept the $35,000,000 relief bill after holding out for weeks on $73,000,000 later $50,000,000 and finally $42,500,000. Olson contended he should have a free hand for a year to inaugurate his self-help public works program to eliminate the dole.

After two free conferences to wrangle over the subject, the senate won out by inserting the following restrictions in the bill:

1. Limitation on spending of the $35,000,000 to 40 per cent in the first three months and the same amount the second quarter, but allowing any surplus in either period to be carried along to the next quarter.

2. Agreement by the administration to make no effort to establish minimum agricultural wages for relief clients except with approval of both agricultural labor and employers.

The anti-Olson relief faction agreed to abandon demands for a provision prohibiting setting of wage minimums below which reliefers could not be forced to accept offered work—an Olson policy which brought criticism from agricultural areas—and was promised the administration would write a letter declaring employers and employees would be considered on wage matters in the future.

The governor is obligated to sign the bill or face the alternative of shutting off relief checks and calling an immediate special session. Relief funds run out in a few days and the unanimous approval for restricted appropriation indicated Olson had backed down on his threat of an immediate special session.

$50,000 Heart Balm Asked

Jury Chosen From Special
Venue Hears Alienation
Of Affections Suit

A suit for $50,000 for alleged alienation of affections is being heard in Superior Court before a jury selected Thursday afternoon from a special venire of thirty.

Plaintiff in the action is Lillian Robertson. The defendant, Amy Buckner, who is alleged to have alienated the affections of W. R. Robertson, the former husband of the plaintiff, who, since their divorce, has wed the defendant.

Prior to the opening of this action, a related issue, based on a disagreement between the Robertsons as to their property settlement, was heard by Judge George H. Thompson on Thursday morning.

The jurors in the alienation of affections suit are: Emma F. Meyers, Mary E. Hand, George Besse, Eva K. Fowler, Margaret Smith, Milo F. Carr, Henrietta Hume, Alex. Pierroz, Laura Abright, Mary Forni, John Purcell and H. E. Hunsaker.

Attorney E. E. Craig represents the plaintiff and Attorney Leonard Worthington represents the defendant. The Robertsons formerly resided at Lake Tahoe, in this county, near the state line where they operated the Tahoe Meadows garage.

Salt Springs Dam Road Closed For Season

The annual closing of the road leading from Lumberyard Ranger Station, on the Alpine Highway, to the Salt Springs dam on the Mokelumne River was announced June 22 by Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith as effective on July 1.

Closing of the road to travel except under permit is a safeguard in view of the increasing fire hazard and is made under federal regulation. The road will be closed to travel until the fire hazard is diminished.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mattocks, were recently at Santa Cruz to attend funeral services for their friend, V. L. Smith, and spend a few days with Mrs. Smith.

Backstage at Cavalcade

Behind the towering scenes at "Cavalcade of the Golden West," at the California World's Fair, are many amazing contrasts of old and new, as moderns wander among the props used to portray 600 years of Western history. Here Joyce Lyford, one of the beauties among the hundreds of actors and actresses, pets a colt of a pair of which she has become fond during their joint participation in the thrilling show.

BARTLETT MARKETING PLAN TOLD BY INDUSTRY BOARD

Proposed Order, On Which Growers Are Now
Voting, Would Benefit Approximately 335
Fruit Ranchers Of El Dorado County

Producers and shippers of fresh Bartlett pears in El Dorado county are greatly interested in bringing about the success of the campaign being waged to secure the necessary written assents to make effective this season, the proposed marketing order for fresh Bartlett pears shipped in intrastate commerce. In this county there are about 335 growers who would benefit by the marketing order, in the opinion of the Bartlett Pear Industry Board, headed by Grove E. Dye, of Sacramento.

So that readers of this newspaper may be fully informed of the plan, the Industry Control has sent to this paper a statement explaining the plan and its purposes. As a public service to pear growers, this paper is pleased to cooperate by printing as news, the statement provided by the Industry Control:

A Marketing Plan has been submitted by W. B. Parker, State Director of Agriculture, to growers and handlers of fresh Bartlett pears for California markets. This plan was largely drafted and presented to the Department by a large group of growers and shippers representing all districts of the State.

Assent forms were mailed out last week by the Department of Agriculture to all known producers in order that every one in the industry might be able to express their approval or disapproval of the plan. The plan is embodied in a marketing order which would be issued under the direction of the marketing act.

An advisory board, composed of five producers and five handlers nominated from among the pear districts of the state, would recommend to the director limitations of undesirable size and poorer grades of Bartlett pears for California markets to supplant control of the size and grade of Bartlett pears shipped out of the state and to control the grade of Bartlett's delivered to canners.

The size and grade provision would be flexible, allowing for control in line with the supply and the market demand. Under a similar program in 1937 Bartlett pears smaller than 180's were eliminated and only those pears grading U. S. No. 2 and better were permitted to be shipped to local markets.

The written assent of 65 per cent of the growers of Bartlett pears in California, by number and tonnage is necessary to make the plan effective.

The marketing plan would remain in effect for two years, after which time, ballots would be submitted to all pear growers to determine whether or not they desire continuance of the plan. Unless the plan is then favored by the majority, it would be terminated.

CHANGE INSTITUTED IN UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE FOR RAILROAD WORKERS, EFFECTIVE JULY 1; SOME MUST FILE NEW CLAIMS

NEW YORK, (UP)—The 138-year-old New York Post, New York's oldest newspaper, announced that George Backer, vice-president of the real estate firm of George Backer, Inc., and state executive committeeman of the American Labor party, had acquired controlling interest in the paper from J. David Stern.

The announcement of Backer's election as president and publisher accompanied that of Stern's resignation after holding the position six years. Stern, owner of the Philadelphia Record and other papers, remained as a director. Stern said that Backer, a city councilman who is active in many business, philanthropic, and cultural organizations, would carry on the liberal policy of the Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson, of Placerville, were at Orland recently attending a family reunion at the home of Mr. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Johnson.

Judge Malcolm Glenn, of Sacramento County, was in Placerville Friday noon, enroute to his summer home near Whitehall.

TWO CONVICTS ELUDE POSSE

Pair Escaped From Trinity
Road Camp Separate; Trail
Of One Found In Fresno

FRESNO, (UP)—Central California authorities had two trails to follow today instead of one in their search for a pair who escaped from a state prison camp last Tuesday.

One of the hunted men, E. W. Richards, paid a fleeting call late yesterday on his married sister here. He had separated during the day "somewhere near Oakland," from his fellow-fugitive, James O'Connell.

Richards' sister, whose name was not revealed by Fresno police, sent him on his way after giving him milk, sandwiches and a lecture on his effrontery in exposing her family to trouble with authorities.

There was no trace of O'Connell, whom peace officers agreed probably had made his escape from Oakland during the early morning hours.

Since they made their way out of the mountains of Trinity county after kidnaping a guard with two pieces of pipe as weapons, O'Connell and Richards have engaged in a crime spree of wide, if not dangerous, proportions. They robbed a minister of his car, but told him where it could be found. They robbed a grocery store for needed funds. They forced an Oakland couple to feed them, "borrowed" a shotgun and clothing and bought a razor for 85 cents from the same victims, then commended another automobile which they later abandoned.

Whether they since had stolen further automobiles was not definitely determined. Richards' sister said he was driving a dirty grey coupe. He was wearing corduroy pants taken from his Oakland victim, a pair of white tennis shoes with blue trimmings and a tan shirt.

Folsom Escape Short Lived

Search Spreads To County
Roads Prior To Finding
Prisoner On Folsom Street

Robert Brill, 23, who walked away from Folsom prison while working with a gang outside the prison walls, was found on a Folsom street Thursday night and returned to his cell within twelve hours after his escape.

Prison officers had instituted a well-organized search for Brill, keeping watch on highways in the western section of the county as far east as Shingle Springs, and elsewhere in the prison vicinity.

Brill, Los Angeles Negro who had a prior conviction for burglary, was serving a Folsom term for driving an auto without the owner's consent and was to have been paroled on June 30.

He was quoted as having explained to Warden Plummer that he was "tired of doing time" and "thought I'd take a chance."

Mrs. Paul Taylor spent last weekend at Yuba City visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mary Haldemann.

FSCC WILL BUY FRESH PLUMS AS AID TO MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO — Purchase of Santa Rosa and Climax varieties of California fresh plums was authorized by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to supplement efforts of the industry to market an increased crop under the federal California tree fruit agreement.

According to W. D. Bethell of Penryn, chairman of the plum commodity committee of the agreement, climatic conditions have caused plums in all sections of the state from Kern to Red Bluff to mature together, resulting in peak shipments during this early part of the season.

"It is hoped that the FSCC purchases at this time will relieve the pressure of these peak shipments that were brought about by abnormal climatic conditions," Bethell declared.

Santa Rosa variety will be purchased by the FSCC at a price of 55 cents per Los Angeles lidded lug, jumbled pack, no pads or liners, of 25 pounds net weight. Fruit meeting these specifications as provided under agreement regulations of a 25 per cent size 5x5 and the balance 4x5 and larger, U. S. No. 1 grade, will be eligible for purchase.

Climax plums of size 4x5 and larger, U. S. No. 1 grade, meeting specifications provided under agreement regulations, will be purchased at a price of 50 cents per Los Angeles lug.

Federal-state inspection is required on all fruit purchased.

TROOP 86

Poor Troop 57! We hear they are having a mourning period after last Monday's game. Although they did beat us by a measly score of two points, they all know they were lucky, for it was in the fourth inning that the sun got in our first baseman's eyes, so that he missed two outs, giving them four runs.

Why, they were so sad, I saw the third-baseman miss a ball, and then start crying—you can't blame him, though, for he had just struck out his second time.

We even knocked one pitcher out of the box, and then Charles Irish thought he would try to pitch. Alas! the poor fielders. We had them backed practically to town, but they were lucky last Monday, and someone got a few of our terrific smashes.

Well! Next Monday night poor 67 is going to try to scrape up enough men that aren't afraid to play us. We hope they aren't as lucky as 57, but I think that is impossible. So all of you 67 men remember to be at the playground at 8:00 p. m. next Monday. —Jerry Davis.

TROOP 57

Boy, oh boy, did we rub 86's would-be softball players in the mud! Next time they'll challenge the Cub Scouts, or maybe the Campfire Girls. We slapped the offerings of their highly touted pitcher, Mr. Davis, all over the lot; and our own pitcher, Boom Springer, was so bored with the monotony of pitching strike after strike over the plate that he retired from the game.

We even caught their catcher-Scoutmaster nailing down the bases to keep us from stealing them. Oh yes! the score—we'll it was only 9 to 7 in our favor, but that was only because we were friendly to the scorekeeper and therefore did not want him to be overworked.

Plans are going forward to insure a 100 per cent attendance at all Scouts who wish to earn their way.

Troop 86, just to show that they hold no hard feelings as a result of the terrible drubbing administered to them, have invited all of our Tenderfoot and Second class Scouts to go with them on a test-passing overnight hike. This just goes to show you they're a swell troop—except for softball.

We've shuffled the troop around again, and Martin Luther, George Faugsted, Bob Springs, and Bill Dillinger are the new patrol leaders. We are going to experiment with a new type of meeting, which we hope will increase our efficiency. With these and other changes, we hope to get an "A" rating for the second straight time in the inter-troop index contest.

Chefs Smith and Springer were hosts to the Green Bar patrol at the lodge on Tuesday night. The menu consisted of hotdogs and kool-aid. Before, during and after the dinner the reorganization was discussed and decided upon. Some of the boys have been urging the troop to wear shorts instead of breeches, but the opposition returned this verdict: "Mosquito bait!"

Home Loan Deadline Is Extended Two Years

July 1, which was considered an important date for home owners and prospective home owners, can now come and go with little concern, for congress has extended for two years the time limit under which dwellings constructed before 1937 may be financed by federal housing administration loans. One change is that where loans on property valued at $6,000 or more will now be 5 1/2 per cent.

Bean acreage in central California will be reduced this year.

WALT MASON, DEAD AT 75, BEGAN NEWSPAPER WORK AS COUNTY REPORTER WITH SALARY OF $8 PER WEEK

LA JOLLA, (U.P.) — Walt Mason, homespun philosopher and prose poet, who died at his home Thursday after a lingering illness, was 75 years old.

Horatio Alger never had a better prototype than Walt Mason, who was born of poor British immigrants, Ontario, May 4, 1864. He was orphaned at the age of 15 and a near-fatal swimming accident when he was 13 further handicapped him by rendering him slightly deaf for the rest of his life.

Uncle Walt's chief claims to fame were his prolific writings, his daily syndicated prose poems, his tinker-dy humor, and his close association with William Allen White and the Emporia (Kans.) Gazette. For more than 32 years the thick-prose poet—who called himself the "fat bard"—ground out a rhyme a day six days a week. He composed an estimated 9,000 rhymes during his years as a contributor, and his works were syndicated in more than 200 newspapers throughout the United States and Canada.

Walt's first job was as an apprentice weaver in Columbus, Later, he became in succession a mechanic, day laborer, farm hand and cowboy—drifting from job to job as the whim pleased him.

It was a poem that got Walt his first reporting job. While riding range on the Kansas prairies, he composed a little poem which he sent to Col. Dan Anthony of the Leavenworth Times. The Colonel printed the piece and sent its author a check for $5.

That was all the incentive Walt

WEEKEND EMPIRE BILL PROMISES TO BE ATTRACTIVE

"Yes, My Darling Daughter," one of the year's most delightful comedies, completes its two-day showing at the Empire Theatre tonight and moves to clear the way for what promises to be an attractive weekend program, opening Saturday.

Saturday seems to be "action day" in the local theatre world, and the bill this week is no exception. There's "Rustler's Valley," the latest Hopalong Cassidy film story, and with it "Whispering Enemies," starring Jack Holt. Dolores Costello has the feminine lead.

But all of this is just a prelude to what happens on Sunday. Shirley Temple comes to the Empire screen for two days in "The Little Princess," her first full technical picture.

Shirley is the daughter of a wealthy officer in the grenadiers and when her daddy sails for Africa for service in the Boer War, "The Little Princess" is placed in a girls' school where her going on finally send her running "plop" into the arms of Queen Victoria.

Mrs. Irma Lawyer was among those in the county seat Thursday, from her resort at Uncle Tom's.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Placerville, Bedford Avenue at Union Street.
Services, 11 a. m. Sunday School 9:30 a. m. Wednesday evening. Testimonial Meeting 8 p. m.
The reading room at the church building is open Tuesday and Friday from 2 o'clock until 4 o'clock.

"Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, June 18, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
The Golden Text was: "To us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him" (I Cor. 8: 6). Other Bible citations included: "But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty;... That no flesh should glory in his presence" (I Cor. 1: 27, 29).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God cannot become finite, and be limited within material bounds. Spirit cannot become matter, nor can Spirit be developed through its opposite. Of what avail is it to investigate what is material material life, which ends, even as it begins, in nameless nothingness? The true sense of being and its eternal perfection should appear now, even as it will hereafter" (p. 550).

Paul Reviews His Life

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON 6-24

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 25 is II Corinthians 11:16-12:10; Philippians 1:12-24; 3:7-16; II Timothy 4:7, 8, the Golden Text being II Timothy 4:7, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.")

"THIS ONE thing I do," writes Paul, "forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Today we see Paul in prison in Rome at the end of his life. He realizes that his end is near, and he reviews his life, especially the part that has been lived since his conversion. Probably he thinks of that day he started for Damascus with his men, planning to find all—"men or women"—who had dared ally themselves with this new sect, the Christians, and to bring them bound to Jerusalem.
Then he sees, in memory, the great light that caused him to fall from his horse, and the voice that came from it, saying, "Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" He feels again the wonder and the revelation that he, too, must espouse the cause of this Man of Galilee and work for His glory, at whatever cost it may be.

Is Persecuted

He sees himself persecuted, footsore, hungry, thirsty, weary, beset with difficulties behind and before, but always "pressing toward the mark." To his disciples he writes of these sufferings: "Thrice was I beaten with rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day I have been in the deep."

"In journeyings often in perils of water, in perils of robbers, in perils by mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils by the sea, in perils among false brethren."

"In weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness."
Sitting there a prisoner, Paul must have felt sometimes that it would be very peaceful to end all this strife and be at peace, and yet the needs of his churches and disciples worried him. "For me to live in Christ and to die is gain," he writes the Philippians, "For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better. Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you." This was written during his first imprisonment, when he did, in fact, soon gain freedom for a time.

In this same letter Paul gives his disciples a rule of life that is often quoted and which is one of many passages in the Bible that we should memorize: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Paul's Doom Sealed

Paul no longer is a young man. He has been arrested and tried again, and he tells us that none stood by him. His friends deserted him. It would have been dangerous for them to have acknowledged the friendship. He feels his death is near, and he will be one more martyr to the cause of Christ. In fact, he was beheaded soon after the epistle to the Romans was written.

As he looks over the stirring events of his life he must feel weary and lonely. But he has accomplished much and earned his sainthood. He has gained recognition for the Gentiles and has established churches in many places, especially in faraway parts. He has been a pioneer. He has also written many loving and anxious letters full of good advice both as to personal living and to guide the management of the various churches, letters which are an inspiration to men and women to this day. Even his imprisonment has done some good to the cause for which he is giving his life. Through it many have heard of the gospel of Jesus that might never have known of it, and have become converts. The Romans who have been his guards have respected and honored him.

And so, reviewing his life, he is moved to exclaim in all modesty but yet triumphantly: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

Death is not too bitter to one who can truthfully say that,

Married Happiness

At last the great day comes and John and Mary pledge themselves to each other "to have and to hold, for better or for worse, as long as both shall live." Anticipation is over, realization has arrived. There is bound to be a reaction—a drop-down, from romance to actuality—and the bride and groom may wonder if wedded life is really as worth while as they thought it was going to be.

If they were congenial before marriage, really good friends who attracted one another, who enjoyed much the same things, had similar ideas and ideals, there is no reason why they should not continue in the same companionable relation.

Both should recognize that there is no perfection in this world. As they live more intimately, they will discover one another's faults and shortcomings. If they are sensible they will ignore the faults and appreciate the virtues, not with a blind love, but with an understanding love.

To continue happy, the wedded pair should respect themselves and each other; should be frank and honest with each other, but always polite and kindly as they would be with strangers. Unselfishness is the chief corner stone of home happiness. If each is more eager to make the other happy than to indulge his own desires, that marriage will be a success.

Marriage is a partnership. Together the couple should discuss plans, a life budget, their wishes for a family, a home, friends, activities. They should work together, play together, go places together, mingle together with others, unite in many common undertakings and enjoy day by day the sweet companionship of a mate who understands and cares and cooperates. Loneliness is one of the saddest emotions of life—and married happiness—a chumminess—a palship—is the delightful opposite.

Kitchen Conveniences

An alarm clock in the kitchen will prevent the burning of food, if the housewife uses it to call her when the dish which is cooking needs attention.

A sturdy tea wagon in the kitchen is a great convenience. It may be shoved near to the stove, when the meal is being cooked, near to the vegetable center when the salad is being spread out on plates, and near to the sink when dishes are being wiped. After the meal it may be rolled to the dining table and loaded with things to be transferred.

Our grandmothers used just one pan for infinite purposes and many of us still have only one or two good kitchen knives. A collection of sharp knives, useful for every sort of operation, and kept in a rack on the wall where they may be readily seen and picked up, would make kitchen work lighter. There should be a knife for slicing, one for carving, a bread knife, two paring knives, a utility knife, a grapefruit knife, and a spatula. The rack does away with searching in the drawer for the right knife and protects the edges of the knives as well as the fingers. A good knife-sharpener is another kitchen aid.

Waiting on Table

In these days of informality and economy, many housewives prepare the meal on company occasions, but it is a great help to have someone come in to serve it. The Home Economic departments in many high schools train young ladies to do such work by the hour and it is easy to call in a nice neighbor girl for this purpose. The hostess may preside at her table with poise, rather than jumping up for each new requirement.

The simpler and more comfortable the company meal, the more all concerned will enjoy it, and it is good taste to limit the menu to merely enough dishes to make a balanced meal, and not to pile up many accessories. The method of serving, should be the simplest and least ostentatious.

When anticipating company and such help, write out the menu, divided into the desired courses, and specifying just how you want them served. This will aid the waiter and assure no confusion.

A bell will make it easy for you to get the attention of the waiter. She should be instructed to walk about the table, always to the right. There is a difference of opinion as to whether the hostess should be served first or last, whether the serving should proceed in order of seating about the table, or distinguished guests or ladies should be first served. Decide that for yourself, for common sense and individual circumstances overrule etiquette.

To set down a plate, remove one, or offer a dish, stand at the left side, unless that particular dish is used at the right. Do not reach in front of anyone.

When exchanging plates, remove the used plate with the right hand and set the new one down with the left.

Travel Clothes

Whether one travels by train, plane, motor or ship—and each year more and more people do travel—the requirements of travel clothes are different from the stay-at-home outfit. Travel clothes must dispose themselves in small space; be light to carry; pack without wrinkling; be two, three, or four-way ensembles; harmonize with the rest of the wardrobe; stick to one-only color scheme, with accompaniments; not show the soil too readily; be appropriate for various occasions—and not cost too much. All this is a "big order!"

Navy-blue with harmonizing or contrasting colors is a good foundation choice. Knitted, lace or non-crushable fabrics are the second thought. As to luggage, one needs a round hat-box grip which will hold the one hat, with very light articles packed about it so as to hold it in shape and not bend the brim; a small bag for overnight necessities; and one large container for the bulk of the clothes.
Suits, with a flock of shirt-waists—plain, figured, checked, striped, dark, light, tailored, fluffy, simple, ornate, suitable for many occasions; a dark party dress with a long skirt for formal events, a shorter one for afternoon teas, and a bolero to adapt it to very low or higher neck; most comfortable walking shoes and one dress pair, soft little bedroom slippers; appropriate gloves, hat and cap; enough hose (or forestall runs); and a full pocketbook—these are chief of travel paraphernalia.

Beauty Hints

A softly feminine appearance is more lovely than one too striking or too fixed. Softly arranged hair is better than inflexible curls. Natural tints of skin and nails are charming, and the lips should be red, but not brazenly so.

For blackheads and pimples, warm water and a mild soap is the best treatment. To soak the face in a hot boric acid solution will remove grease and bacteria. After this, use an ointment recommended by a physician, or a high grade product containing such ingredients as sulphur, salicylic acid or resorcinol.

Meat-Pineapple Loaf

Combine a pound each of ground chuck beef and shoulder veal; add a cup and a half of dried bread crumbs, a cup and a half of canned crushed pineapple, a scant teaspoon of dry mustard, two teaspoons of salt and one beaten egg. Bake for an hour in a moderate oven.

CAR SALES IN STATE UP ONE-THIRD DURING MAY

Official registration figures for automobiles sold in California during the month of May show a decided improvement over May 1938, with an increase of 32.4 per cent for the average of all cars.

Studebaker has enjoyed a phenomenal sales gain due to the introduction of the new Champion as well as increasing popularity of the Commander and President models. Studebaker's gain over May of last year is 156 per cent or about 4.7 times the average gain of the industry, according to C. K. Whitaker, president of The Studebaker Pacific Corporation.

This gain places Studebaker in seventh place in the state. Out of the 26 makes of passenger cars Studebaker has moved two places nearer the top, from ninth place in May, 1938, to seventh place this year.

"While Studebaker's percentage of gain over the industry as a whole is, of course, due largely to the introduction of the new Champion, we at the factory and our entire dealer organization have justification for the greatest optimism," Whitaker said. "Champion sales have not replaced the sale of the other models. In fact, the registration figures for the Commander and President show substantial gains over last year."

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, (AP)—I want some information, please, on a radio program that has been planned for Monday night.

Unless its publicity department has sent out two entire pages of typographical errors, the National Broadcasting Company will put Max Schmeling, Harry Thomas and John Henry Lewis on the air. This would make sense if Schmeling were going to sing, Thomas discuss far eastern problems, and Lewis read off a few recipes.

But, they aren't going to do anything of the kind. The three men—and if this isn't hard to believe, then Grover Whalen never had his pants pressed—the three men are going to tell Tony Galento how to defeat Joe Louis in their world's heavyweight fight of next Wednesday night.

Can you imagine three men with less knowledge on the subject of how to defeat Louis? The last time out with Joe, Schmeling wound up on the floor in the first round, crying in agony and with a set of vertebrae that rattled like dice as he was carted away to the repair shop. His advice certainly should be valuable to Galento. At best all he can tell Galento is that by using caution, and yelling loudly when struck, it is possible to escape from the ring with your life.

Schmeling was still under the care of physicians the last time I heard of him, and it should cheer Tony no end when Max, the rattle of his crutches providing the music, talks into the Mike from Berlin.

As for Thomas, it is even money he still is unable to talk after licking Louis gave him. The only sound advice he could offer Tony would be along the lines of how to make a graceful collapse to the canvas. Thomas is recognized by one school of fallers as the best in the business. When struck he employs the forward right knee bend with a two and a half Gainer of the neck and shoulders. This is followed by the full twist and a one

SURPLUS COMMODITIES BOARD TO PURCHASE GLOBE ONIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The federal surplus commodities corporation will purchase surplus California onions to assist growers in marketing their new crop.

Gordon Lacy, chairman of the industry committee of the FSOC, said carry-over onions will be bought for 40 cents per 50-pound sack. Purchases will be confined to yellow globe onions of U. S. commercial grade, which must average 90 percent or better of U. S. No. 1 grade.

The purchased onions will be turned over to state welfare agencies for distribution to persons on relief rolls.

and a half. By this procedure he saves wear and tear on the cuff of his pants, and also always lands near the closest exit.

Lewis, if he talks at all, will have to fall back on a discussion of the proper approach to the slaughter. Certainly that is all he remembers of his shambles with Joe in Madison Square Garden last winter. As I remember it, John Henry, when he walked out to meet Joe, was given 10 points for a perfect rictus from his stool, 10 points for the registering of a perfect look of horror when he discovered what he had gotten himself into, 10 more points for not jumping out of the ring, and 10 stitches (later) for what happened to him.

If he has ever heard of psychology, Joe Jacobs, manager of Galento, will not allow his man to be within half a mile of a radio when Max, Harry and John Henry take the air to recall their nights of horror. Much better that Jacobs take Galento on a sight-seeing tour to the morgue, or keep him in good spirits by reading to him from a book on the Spanish Inquisition.

If Galento were my charge, and insisted on listening to the radio that night, I would threaten him with something that would make him mind. As a last resort I'd even go so far as to tell him I would match him with Louis if he didn't obey.

Paul, prisoner in Rome, expecting death, reviews his life from his conversion when, on the road to Damascus, he fell from his horse blinded by a light.

He recalls his persecutions while on the work of his Master: "Thrice was I beaten with rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck."

"In weariness and painfulness," he writes of his experiences, "in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness."

Development work on the Big Sandy and Gray Eagle Mines is progressing rapidly. Electricity has been installed and connected up with the pumping plant, mill and lights for all purposes in the mill building, ore bins, water tank and blacksmith shop, all of which make things look prosperous. The erection of an office and rooms for superintendent Earl Cooper is being completed. Leasers are working in several places on both mines with excellent profits besides miners are working in drifts and cross cuts from the main shaft from the 120-foot level.

The Alhambra Mine under the management of Supt. Lyons is returning good profits to the Halli-burton Company, of Fresno.

Russell Wilson is doing development work on several of his properties at Spanish Flat.

All assessment work is being rushed for the July first limit.

RESCUE

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fleming, of Sacramento, Mrs. Hazel Slakey, of Fresno, and Leslie Friedman, of Sacramento, visited relatives here Sunday.

F. J. Edwards enjoyed a visit on Sunday at the Fleming ranch with his two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, of San Jose, and Mrs. Jensen, of San Francisco. They were going to the Yosemite Valley on a fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Silverman and son, James, of Washington, spent the past week visiting Mrs. Silverman's aunts, Mrs. Julia MacDonald and Miss Estella Litten. Mrs. Silverman also visited many old-time friends. About thirty-eight years ago, Mr. Silverman, as a very young man, spent several months visiting at the Litten ranch with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Litten, and he stated he attended the opening dance given at the Rose Springs Literary Society Hall at Rescue.

Old time friends received a visit Sunday morning from Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Beckstead, of Fallon, Nevada. Mrs. Beckstead, as Carrie Rolke, taught the Green Valley school near here many years ago, boarding with the Wing family. It has been thirty-two years ago they last visited here. We are glad to report Mrs. Genevieve McBeth is out of the Sutter Hospital but still with friends at Sacramento. She expects to return to her home at the Shaffer ranch on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dormody, of Sacramento, spent Sunday at the Dormody home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Osborne and daughter, Delores, of Moro Bay, visited over Sunday and Monday with Mrs. Annie Skinner. They went on to Oroville Tuesday to visit with his mother, Mrs. Silberhorn.

LOTUS

The weather the past week has been somewhat cool. The highest point of the mercury was on Monday last when it reached 92 degrees. On Wednesday a slight shower of rain came at 3 p.m. which lasted only about half an hour. On Thursday of this week summer begins and that is the longest day of the year. After Thursday the days will begin to get shorter. We have had no hail so far this month to hurt the coming fruit crop. On the 22nd day of June, 1917, we had a very large hail storm during the afternoon which lasted for over an hour and much damage was done to the fruit crop throughout the county besides ruining all the summer gardens.

Geo. Luneman of the Webber Creek District was in our town the past week and told us that he has never in his life seen so many grasshoppers as are there are today. He says that they have taken all his garden and also taking all his nice vineyard and he finds no way to get rid of the pests.

Alex Leonardi is beginning to get the mountain fever and will soon go up to his mountain home at Onion Valley. Even spend the summer months. Alex since his boyhood days has always spent the summer season in the mountains by making shakes and working at other jobs that come his way.

Eddie Fenske and his wife came up from their Berkeley home this week-end bringing back his mother, Mrs. Amanda Fenske to her home here. She has been visiting with her son and friends at Richmond, Oakland, Berkeley and the Bay City the past two weeks, enjoying her trip and visit very much.

We are pleased to mention that our friend Elwin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. McKenney of Sacramento, was among one of the many who graduated at the High School in the Capital City the past week. Elwin wants to become a mining engineer and intends to enter that school as a student at Reno when the term opens in August. The young man will put in a full course of four years at the Reno school. We wish Elwin much success.

Our neighbors here, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fenske, have in their possession a pet deer given them by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bisagno, of Granite Hill, some months ago. The animal has become a regular pet and makes friends with all callers at their home besides going out in the morning with their two cows following them around all day and returning with them in the evening.

We learn that some one shot the little animal some time the past week. Not serious. The animal is quite large and going on a year old. These hunters should look out and be a little careful what they shoot at and leave Fenske's pet deer alone or they will get into trouble, mark me.

A card party will take place at the Community Hall in Coloma Saturday evening, June 24th. The proceeds to go to our Episcopal church in Coloma. This church is one of Coloma's oldest buildings built many years ago and is well kept up by the Coloma and Lotus people. Much repair and improvements have been done on our church lately and still more is needed, and to raise funds a card party will be given Saturday night and it is hoped that a large crowd will attend the game and help a good cause along. Your 35c score card is money well spent toward any charitable institution.

The Rev. and Mrs. Rex Barron were callers at the Rasmussen and Reasdale homes from Placerville on Monday last.

Dan Fritz, prominent pear grower of the Camino section, spent Sunday in our town.

Perley Monroe and Harry Rieker came up from their Sacramento home last Sunday and spent the day, Perley looking after his property in the Webber Creek District and also at Coloma. They returned home late in the evening.

Wm. Fox has been employed to irrigate the Rasmussen Bros. orchard here for the season and has recently taken up the work. Last year Grant Monroe irrigated this orchard and was asked to do the same this year but declined the work owing to his advanced age. Our Judge, who has done this irrigating all his life, is now compelled to give it up and get someone to do this work for him.

Mrs. Geo. Oviedo of Coloma, Lotus left for a week's visit to San Francisco to return Sunday morning.

Charles Hines spent a few days the past week fishing at Loon Lake. Rev. Rex Barron and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Simon were dinner guests at the Reasdale home Wednesday evening.

The Grange card party at Coloma Saturday night found many Lotus residents present. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hansen, Mrs. Lottie Galleher, Mrs. Lida Blodgett and Mrs. U. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reasdale had as their week-end guests Mrs. H. Meyer and Miss Ella Meyer, of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Ayer, of Richmond.

CAMINO

The semi-annual meeting of the Industrial Employees Union was held in Portland, Oregon June 10th. Harry Tutill, board member from this district attended. He was accompanied as far as Redding by Mrs. Tutill where she visited with relatives for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Stadtmann from San Francisco, stopped and visited with Mr. and Mrs. B. Gardella Sunday on their way to Lake Tahoe.

N. Apollonio, of Sacramento, spent the week-end at his summer home.

A large number from here attended the Florence Blair dance recital at the El Dorado County High School Wednesday evening where Marilyn Davenport, Joanne Thomas and Patsy took part.
